Live Sound & Lighting

We offer some amazing band PA equipment for hire with sound engineers. The equipment we can provide for your event, whether it be an album launch, secret gig or even a wedding, is of very high quality and will help you get the perfect sound you are after, even in the most difficult of spaces.

Band PA hire can be somewhat of a minefield if you don't know exactly what you are looking for. We offer you free advice and help you pick the perfect band sound system for your event and work with you to make sure your event is faultless. We have been supplying band sound systems for many years and have helped entertain crowds from 30 people up to several thousand.

When you are touring around with your band or act, the last thing you want to do is to have to rely on in-house sound systems. These can vary greatly from venue to venue, and sometimes will leave you in the lurch due to the system not being fit for your purpose.

By having a bespoke touring package travel with you, you can be sure that everywhere you go, your sound will be consistently high-quality and there won't be any unforeseen surprises!

Packages Tailored To You!

Don't just hire a PA, get the complete package - a musically sympathetic and empathic sound engineer with over 25 years professional engineering & production experience, working with equipment that he has chosen as the tools of his trade to showcase his skills to the best possible extent.

We can use up to 6 x 2000W, dual 18" low end bins alongside 6 x 1500W, dual 15" and horn tops to give the highest quality end result. We consider stage monitoring to be absolutely vital in helping the best possible performance, and your stage will be filled with the wonderful clear sound of up to 14 individual monitor mixes to on stage speakers or IEM's. The mixing desk is digital and microphones, amplifiers and processing are all of high quality. Suitable for venues up to 1500 people. Quotes will be based on a day of up to 8 hours.

Need bigger sound for your event??

We are happy to expand our PA services to host a wide selection of performers. From local talents to large concerts, our PA systems have helped clients from all kinds of backgrounds and events including:
